Money
*Biggest problem for seniors?
 It's not having enough money!*

What was the biggest problem in the lives of seniors during the recent school year?
 According to many of them, it was the lack of money.

"I don't do much of the things I want to do because of money," one senior said. "It seems that I have to stand around all the time."

Students especially complained about the high cost of clothing, gasoline for their automobiles, and bus fare.

"A good date will not you back 50 or 60," one senior said. "That's why my girlfriend and I stay home late on weekends and watch TV."

Being away from school is a major problem, too. "I'm so glad I don't always have the price," one said.

FPCHS Summer Credit Recovery

2015 SUMMER APP2.docx

Tue May 26, 2015 8:47am

Please note that this email is sent to all active students at Fort Pierce Central and does not necessarily indicate that your child has failed a core course for graduation.

Fort Pierce Central High School is offering the opportunity for any students that may have failed a core course to attend a summer credit recovery program. Using the program Edgenuity, students will be able to retake the failed course online to bring up their GPA and earn the credits necessary to graduate on time.

To determine if your child has failed any core courses, you can review the academic history for the current school year in Skyward Family Access. To review any core course failures from previous years, your child's guidance counselor should be contacted.

CONCERNS REGARDING STUDENT GRADES

- Click grades for assignment grades, missing assignments and teacher comments.
- Have a conversation with your student about class grade.
- Reach out to the teacher directly. Teacher emails are on Skyward.
- Email teachers from your email, not Skyward.
- If you would like a phone call from the teacher, simply provide that information in the email with your contact information.
- Most phone calls will have to occur during their planning or after school.
- Please note, there are 3 sides to every situation.
- Contact school administrator if you have a concern about the teachers' instruction, grading, and policies.
- Contact the school counselor if your student is failing multiple subjects, you are concerned about their graduation requirements, course level, or career and post-secondary planning, or mental health struggles.
