EXPLORE: Interests/Experiences

VOLUNTEERING

TIPS FROM OUR SENIORS:

- Don't procrastinate. It will only lead to stress in your senior year when you realize some scholarships / colleges require hours.
- Volunteer at an organization which correlates with your interests (you don't want to spend your time working somewhere where you are going to be unhappy).
- Don't be afraid to email or call an organization if you have questions.
- Document how much you volunteer (even if the organization does it as well) & return your paperwork to your school after you make a copy for yourself. This is how you get your hours logged in Skyward.
- If volunteering offsite, the organization will need to put the volunteer work details on their letterhead (see your School Counselor, if you have any questions).
- Set specific days and times to volunteer.

GENERIC EMAIL:

Hello!

My name is _____. I am currently a (grade) student at (high school name) High School who is seeking ways to give back to my community. While looking for ways to volunteer, I found your organization! I was wondering if you (or name of organization) currently need volunteers. If so, I would love to volunteer with you guys. The best way to reach me is by email, but if you would like to speak over the phone, my number is _____. I cannot wait to hear back from you.

Have a wonderful day,

Florida Ready to Work - What students need to know

When you graduate from school, it is important that you have the skills employers are looking for. You may not have experience, but if you can show an employer you have the ability to learn, you're already a step ahead of other candidates. A Florida Ready to Work Credential will help you stand out.

What is Florida Ready to Work?

Florida Ready to Work is a FREE, online career readiness program providing training in soft skills, digital skills, and academic employability skills. In addition to this training, you can earn nationally recognized credentials to show employers that you have mastered these skills.

What are employers looking for?

Employers are looking for individuals with employability skills. Employers want to know...

- Can you communicate well?
- Do you have a professional mindset?
- Can you think critically and solve problems?
- Are you able to collaborate and work in a team?
- Can you use a computer and access the internet in a professional way?
- Can you apply the math, reading, and data analysis skills you learned in school in a workplace situation?
